in the. DOWNLOADGun rights advocates are calling for a boycott of McDonald's after the fast-food chain said it will no longer sell guns or ammunition in its restaurants nationwide. The announcement of the new policy was made by McDonald's on Twitter.

The full statement reads: "Our restaurants are a reflection of our brand and our restaurants proudly serve the communities in which we operate. For this reason, we have decided to discontinue the sale of firearms and certain ammunition in our restaurants nationwide." Proudly serve the communities we operate... We will no longer sell firearms or ammunition in any of our restaurants nationwide. — McDonald's (@McDonalds) April 25, 2019 While the decision is based on being "a reflection of our brand," it has been widely speculated that the decision is politically motivated. After threatening to leave the NRA in October of 2018, McDonald's announced in January that it would no longer be donating to the organization because of the group's anti-immigration stances. The restaurant chain did not refer to the NRA by name in their tweet about the gun ban. Those who oppose gun control often argue that gun violence is a public health issue, not a law-enforcement issue, therefore it is the job of physicians and mental-health professionals to determine whether or not people are fit to own guns.

Critics of this argument point out that those who are mentally ill are too often stigmatized by courts 82138339de
