MetaClick is a software tool that can help you if your mouse happens to break down or if you are unable to use it properly. Basically, when the mouse pointer stops moving, this program clicks for you at fixed time intervals. The application displays a very simple and easy-to-use interface with just six buttons that represent some of the types of clicks that you can make: right, left and double click, left drag and even scrollwheel. MetaClick can be stopped very easily just by right clicking on the program and choosing the 'Suspend' option from the context menu. From here, you are also able to choose the other types of clicks that are not displayed in the main window, such as right drag and right double. Furthermore, suspending the clicks and opening the Settings screen can be achieved in this menu. The program is highly customizable, seeing that you can hide or unhide the cursor tag, change its colors and fonts, and enable sound when you click (only WAV). The app gives you the possibility of changing all the buttons on the main screen or just adding some that you use a lot.

MetaClick has a very helpful option, called 'Orbit' that opens three types of clicks at fixed intervals, so that you do not always have to toggle between left and right click and so on from the main window. All in all, MetaClick is a very handy tool that helps users a lot if clicking cannot be done properly with their mouse. MetaClick Portable enables you to make mouse clicks with your computer. It is a very simple app with just six buttons. Its main idea is to make mouse clicks for you while you are not clicking. Thus, the app will monitor your mouse if it is not moving. When the mouse starts moving again, the clicks are stopped, and the time of the last click is saved. The user can then resume by clicking one of the six buttons of the program. This is very convenient when you are typing.
